What JGA does for its customers

We provide many services, singly or in combinations, which enable our customers to take important steps forward.

Often these services are free to our customers because they are paid for by the Learning and Skills Council, and/or the European Social Fund.

What is important to us and to our customers is a positive outcome. That might be a new job, more satisfaction in an existing job, or further learning, and more choices in the future.

Whatever the customer's situation, we are determined to offer a professional service to them and, where appropriate, to their employer and so achieve the highest level of customer satisfaction.

The JGA customer at the heart of our services

JGA - dedicated to helping adults develop their careers
